Foreword

Let yourself take a journey into the priceless memories of the past....

Parties
Ballgames
Projects
Banquets
Plays

As you stroll through the dimly lit halls of time, slowly opening the broad doors which led to the ladder of success....

Each step gradually accomplished a higher aim,
Every aim led upward to the victorious goal.

Having become lost in your thoughts, you vaguely visualize the forgotten struggle to fulfill the golden opportunities of the past.

As you close the doors of your high school career, we hope "THE 1957 VIG" will forever remain in your cherished memories.

TAKE A MOMENT TO THINK

Let's take a moment to think
Of days gone by--
The first day we came to school,
My, but how time does fly!

Let's take a moment to think
Of all the pleasures,
We Seniors have shared together;
Each to our memory is treasured.

Let's take a moment to think
Of difficulties we encountered along the way,
And how we finally subdued them
To bring about a more pleasant day.

Let's take a moment to thank
All of our teachers for being so kind;
They have been so patient and understanding,
That they'll remain foremost in our mind.

Let's take a moment to think
About the future, and what we plan to do,
Even though we won't be together,
To Fair Grove we will always be true.

HARU HANCOCK

Upward Flight

On September 3, 1953, a group of fifty-nine Freshmen started on a flight that would take four years to reach the final landing field. Our air-line hostesses, Mrs. Herman Ivey and Mrs. L. A. Ross, helped us to get settled and to plan our routes (English, Mathamatics, Science, Home Economics, Physical Education), which we would follow for the next nine months. During these months, various clubs and athletics took up part of our time. Along with our studying, we enjoyed our parties. Then we stopped to refuel and take a vacation.

On September 2, 1954, with our minds active, forty-six Sophomores started climbing again. The air was getting thin, but we only had three more stops to make. This year our air-line hostesses were Mrs. Bill Hedrick and Miss Lucille Bowers. We enjoyed fellowship together along with our work. We sponsored the basketball tournament between the classes, a semi-formal dance, and also the sale of candy. Several of our girls (dressed as sailors) served as waitresses at the Junior-Senior banquet. Our favorite subject that year was probably Biology. We dissected frogs, fish, and even a cat. After what seemed a short time we again stopped to refuel.

On into Junior Land we flew. This year, 1955, because several had decided they didn't want to complete the flight for some reason or other, we only had one hostess, Mrs. James Payne. Mrs. Payne had a big job helping us to raise money for our Junior-Senior banquet. We became salesmen of magazines and sweaters. Mrs. Hedrick helped us plan our banquet to honor our upperclassmen. We chose as our theme for the banquet "Colonial Days." We became proud owners of class rings. "Girls Are Better Than Ever" was proved when we presented our Junior play under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Lyndon. Our fellow classmates joined clubs and helped on the school publications. Five of our group were chosen as marshals to help with the commencement exercises. Then we made our last stop before Senior Land.

As the 1956 school year approached, only twenty-eight were left to finish the flight. Mrs. Clarence Fowler was our hostess this year. Lawrence Albright was elected pilot; Bill Armentrout, co-pilot; Jo Ann Jenkins, navigator; who logs our flight; and accountant, Mary Frances Coggins, who checks all money spent for fuel. We became magazine salesmen again, and then sold Christmas cards. All this was for the trip to Washington, D. C. in the spring, which we had looked forward to for so long.

Now, because we have finished our flight on the plane we started off on, many of us are planning to make reservations on a larger and more important plane in which some will be taking up nursing, teaching, business administration, and many other different careers. Before we leave we would like to say "Thank You", to the teachers in grammar school for all you did for us; to our high school teachers, who showed us we would have to "Aim High and Hold Your Aim", and to Mr. Kearns, for being so patient and understanding to us all these years. As we leave we will never forget all the wonderful things that happened during our years at Fair Grove. After we are gone, we will always proudly say, "Fair Grove is my School!"

Class Prophecy

Listen, my children, and you shall hear
The fate of the class of the 57th. year.
Everyone thought I'd settle down
But not me, I'm still roming around.
A foreign carrespondent I came to be
And on many of my journeys,
My classmates I see.

Once while doing a feature on a gambling house,
"Border of the South"
Whose owner, Bill Armentrout, and his big mouth,
Spilled information to Carolyn Barefoot, a woman detective,
Which led to a raid very unexpected.

Doug Hill and Tony Hill are down south too,
Professors in college they chose to be.
Doug at the University of Florida as coach of athletics.
Tony is at Bob Jones directing dramatics.
Mary Frances Coggins, the author, has retired to her summer home,
To finish her book, "THE CRYSTAL DOME."
Arlen Leonard is also traveling many places,
And winning so many stock car races.

Toward the north many of my classmates moved,
Their abilities to succeed they proved.
Sherby Cranford and Gaye Kearns are modeling in New York now,
They're really making the money----Wow!
Haru Hancock, who always took her work to heart,
Has chosen her career in Commerical Art.
Barbara and Texie Underwood had their eyes on a star,
Air-line hostesses they now are.
Jo Ann Jenkins and Edward Kennedy are in the medical field,
Their service to life, a bontiful field,
A nurse at John Hopkins is Jo Ann
Lending to Edward, a famous surgeon, a helping hand.
Gary Surratt, a cartoonist well known,
Working in Chicago his success has grown.

Once while reading my paper I recognized these names,
Lawrence Albright and Lawrence Leonard have risen to fame.
Lawrence Albright is North Carolina's governor, newly elected.
As secretary to Agriculture, Lawrence Leonard was selected.
Shirley Watford, who was always quiet,
Finds her wark as a librarian just right.

A few of my classmates stayed in the hame town,
But interesting jobs they still found.
Shirley Hulin and Betty Sparks have a kindergarden to direct their attention. The name of it I will not mention.
Ersa Hughes now spends her leisure hours
Caring for her two children and her many beautiful flowers.
Clara Sue Bryant, the smartest one of all,
Is now in Hollywaad having herself a ball.
Bill Elberson, the guy with the ears,
Has become a business success dawn through the years.

Randall Hepler, with a degree from college,
Became a great evangelist preacher;
While our crazy "Bugs" Snider became a great science teacher.
Betty Hill, whom we all knew would succeed,
Is now a nurse, administering to sick peoples needs.
Gary Kennedy is now a famous minster
To help in the end is his intention.

To succeed in the end was our aim!
Success and happiness ta all of us came.
